After a delay of about a week, both the single-coated (S.C.) and multi-coated (M.C.) versions of the 35/1.4 Nokton should be in distributors hands by the end of this week if not sooner. All of the distributors have published their pricing on their respective websites (a list of distributor websites can be found here.) I can't wait to see what this lens can do. Lens specifications can be found in this article.
